

Call for papers

Floating Peripheries Conference 2019 – Sites and Situations

International Conference
Rovaniemi, Finland
Faculty of Art and Design, University of Lapland
14 – 16 January 2019

Abstracts Submission Deadline: 22 October 2018

Call for Papers: Floating Peripheries Conference 2019 – Sites and situations

We warmly invite you to the Floating Peripheries Conference 2019 – Sites and Situations at the University of Lapland. You are welcome to present your artwork and research, follow presentations, and to visit a site-specific artwork composed particularly for this occasion.

The conference focuses on the notion of periphery/peripheries in relation to the varied methods, materials, concepts, questions and ideas accurate in the fields of artistic research and visual studies. We aim to look at and speculate about the multitude of peripheral sites and situations as a multi-layered and complex phenomenon – as conceptual, spatial and site-responsive domains, aesthetically and spatially experienced and shaped by associations, representations and practices through different mediums in arts and epistemologies. Artistic researchers and scholars on visual studies across disciplines, aesthetics and activities are all invited.

Submission Procedure

Interested contributors are invited to submit before 22 October 2018, a presentation proposal of maximum 500 words. Please use the online submission system to submit your abstract (abstracts sent by email will not be included). Abstracts should be in English, and keywords included. Corresponding authors will be notified by 3 December 2018 about the status of their proposals.

Link to online submission system: <https://app.oxfordabstracts.com/stages/669/submission>

A decision of an edited volume will be made after the conference.

Important Dates

Conference Abstracts Submission Deadline: 22 October 2018
Notification of Acceptance: 3 December 2018
Conference: Rovaniemi, 14 – 16 January 2019